Dear Phil,

Your peace sticker confused your post office, as you can see. Or, warmakers control it. They cancelled that stamp.

A break in the weather let me get outside for a little work today. My body's reaction tells me how it is zaging! But it felt good, and I look forward to more, with pleasure and benefit.

While I feel somewhat better about the medical checking, I still regard it as inadequate and, were it possible, I would accept your offer of the diagnostician.

With Thorulcy I believe it is a perjury charge. Having read nothing to do with it I am not familiar with it, knowing only what I recall of having read in the papers. I believe the present delay is because he does not have counsel, not regular trial counsel. He had someone make some motions for him, and I suppose hearing them will delay it. I know the Garrison office is not disposed to press him when he hasn't counsel. I also understand he expected the ACLU to take the case but they see no issue for them in it.

But none of this is of my own knowledge. It can be wrong. It is merely what I've heard.

The change in the weather makes me think of vacations, nice things other people have. If you do and you come east on yours, I hope it can include stopping here. We have accommodations, a quiet place, a pool and we'd like it.

Again, thanks.
